Dear Consultee

PROPOSAL TO MERGE BORROW WOOD INFANT AND JUNIOR SCHOOLS TO FORM A SINGLE PRIMARY SCHOOL

Background

It is generally accepted that all-through primary schools offer certain advantages to pupils when compared with separate infant and junior schools. These include greater financial stability, staffing flexibility and, once admitted, pupils are guaranteed a place at the school for the duration of their primary education.

The head teacher of Borrow Wood Infant School left at the end of the summer term 2009 and the school has a vacancy for a head teacher, with a temporary head currently in post.

Derby City Council is consulting on a proposal to merge the two schools to form a single primary school within the existing school buildings from September 2010.

What is a Merger?

Merger is the joining of two schools into one, with a single governing body and head teacher. This would be achieved through the "closure" of the Infant School and the simultaneous expansion of the age range of the Junior School to form a single 3 to 11 primary school with 315 places (this figure does not include the number of children in the nursery). Based on the current intake, it is proposed that the school will offer 45 places each year. This would, however, depend to some extent on other factors affecting schools in the nearby area (including falling rolls), which could lead to an increase in the number of applications for the primary school. In these circumstances, it might be necessary to revise the number of places available to 60 each year. The school has sufficient accommodation on site to do so. All pupils resident within the Borrow Wood catchment area will be able to be accommodated at the school.

The choice of which school to close and which school to expand is no more than a technical choice and carries no implication that one school is in any way better placed for expansion than the other. Usually it is the school with the head teacher vacancy which is the one proposed for closure.

If the two schools do merge they will continue to operate within their existing buildings.

What are the benefits?

The main benefits are:

• a single primary school would make the transition of pupils between Years 2 and 3, from Infants to Juniors, smoother and better for pupils and their families with less chance of 'lost learning' at the beginning of Year 3

- the possibility to create a single and continuous approach to the curriculum, such as single policies for handwriting, reading, maths and behaviour
- A single governing body bringing a single culture and ethos across the 3 to 11 age range
- School budgets are based mainly on the number of children in a school. If these go up and down year to year, it causes instability and can lead to shortage of funding, job losses etc. This is often worse for smaller schools. Bigger schools, such as primaries, are more protected and can cope with the fluctuations
- One school uniform, the same policies and procedures, the same dates for staff training days and parents' evenings
- A larger school has more capacity to introduce remodelled posts, such as a site manager or school business manager. This releases the head and senior managers to concentrate more on the business of raising achievement for all children
- More development opportunities for the staff, such as shared training and the chance to work more closely across the curriculum and gain experience and understanding of all key stages
- Better access for pupils and the families to extended services and facilities
- The opportunity for both schools to keep improving and moving forward.

What will it mean for the children?

All of the above should have a positive impact on the quality of education that children receive. There will, inevitably, be a period of adjustment while the new structure settles down. On a day-to-day basis there will be no change in routine or provision in either school. It is anticipated that the children will benefit from the potential of a wider range of resources and improved staff development.

What will it mean in terms of organisation?

- There should be no immediate change in organisation as a direct result of merger. In the longer term any decisions made by the primary school governing body would be taken in order to improve the quality of provision for children
- The new school will receive a single budget based on pupil numbers. Conversion to a primary school gives, in the longer term, the head teacher and governors greater flexibility in using staff and resources
- The primary school would maintain the status of community school and there will be no change to admissions criteria. Children in Year 2 would automatically have a right to transfer to Year 3 without having to re-apply for a place.

What will it mean for the staff?

Again, very little on a day-to-day basis, but merger will create greater stability and security. Apart from a change of school name to a primary school, staff contracts and conditions of service will not be affected in any way.

What will it mean for parents/carers?

Merger will mean that the two schools will continue to operate as usual and that parents/carers of both schools will continue to receive the same high level of quality provision. Parents/carers will not have to apply for a place in the junior part of the school once their child is on roll in the infant department of the school.

What will it mean for the Governing Body?

On an agreed date the two current Governing Bodies will end, and be replaced with one Governing Body made up of representatives from both schools. Different models are possible.

What happens now?

This document is the start of a six week consultation period on the proposal to merge. This starts on 7 September 2009 and ends on 16 October 2009. All written comments will be considered by the Council when the consultation ends. After this the Council Cabinet will decide at their meeting on 27 October 2009 whether to progress to the next stage of the process.

If so, this begins with the publication of statutory notices on 2 November 2009. There will be a further six week period when any member of the public can make representation to the Council ending on 18 December 2009. A final decision will then be made by Cabinet early in January 2010 on whether to merge the two schools.

If merger does proceed then the "new" school will be in place for September 2010.

How can I get more information or give you my views?

We are holding two open meetings to discuss the issues: one during the day and one in the evening. These are being held on:

- Monday 14 September from 2-3pm at Borrow Wood Juniors (with crèche provision)
- Monday 14 September from 6-7pm at Borrow Wood Infants.

Please come along and ask us any questions about the merger and what it means for the schools and their pupils. Representatives from the Local Authority and the Governing Bodies will be there to outline the proposals and answer your questions. Views expressed at the open meetings will be recorded as part of the consultation.
