Version	1.21

1. Policy application

This policy applies to all Council employees except those employed under the delegated powers of Governing bodies of Community, Voluntary Controlled schools and Trust schools. Governing bodies of these schools are strongly urged to adopt this policy for non-teaching staff within their delegated powers.

This code should be read in conjunction with the disciplinary rules contained within the disciplinary and dismissals policy.

Any breach of this code will be regarded as misconduct, leading to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal. Nothing in this code overrides existing statutory or common law obligations.

2. Principles

2.1 General standards

The public is entitled to expect the highest standards of conduct from all employees who work in local government. The role of local government employees is to support the Council in achieving its objectives, implementing policies and delivering services to the local community.

This code describes minimum expected standards that protect the integrity of both employees and the Council; however, having a values-led approach is vital to the Council's success. This code describes minimum expected standards that protect the integrity of employees and the Council. Underpinning the code of conduct is a set of Council Values that are vital to the Council's success. The Values help us to maintain and improve how we work with each other, our partners and customers. You are expected to demonstrate behaviours that reflect these values whilst performing your duties.

The values of Derby City Council are:

Can do - Our positive attitude means that we find ways of achieving excellent outcomes for our customers, partners, stakeholders and colleagues.

Being the best – We create an environment where we constantly strive for better ways of doing things, through creativity, forward thinking and learning.

Brilliant customer experience – We put our external and internal customers at the heart of everything we do.

Honesty and respect – We will behave ethically and with transparency, embracing diversity and treating everyone fairly.

The Council also has guidance on workplace behaviours called Derby Workstyle which employees are expected to follow.

2.2 Acceptance of gifts/hospitality

The Council is committed to conducting its services fairly, honestly, openly and adhering to the Anti-bribery Policy. You must not compromise your position by appearing to accept, or accepting gifts/hospitality which might be considered by others to have influenced you when making decisions on behalf of the Council.

You must secure approval from your line manager before accepting any gift or hospitality. All offers of gifts/hospitality over the value of £25 must be recorded. If you do not know the value or are unsure, record it.

In general, you are expected to refuse gifts and hospitality offered to you or members of your family by any person or body that has, or seeks to have dealings of any kind with the Council. Cash or monetary equivalents offered must always be refused, regardless of the value. There may be occasions where it could cause offence to refuse hospitality/gifts.

However, no gift/hospitality that could look as though you have been dishonest or corrupt should be accepted.

See Acceptance of gifts, hospitality and sponsorship for information.

2.3 Additional employment

Employees may carry out additional work, employment or outside activity if it is not in conflict with the Council's business.

The Chief Executive and Chief Officers must seek express consent from full Council to take up additional employment in line with their terms and conditions.

You must disclose and seek approval from your line manager who will determine if there is likely to be a conflict of interest. Your manager will also assess hours worked in line with the Working Time Regulations 1998 and discuss this with you.

You must not do personal work of any sort during the hours you are carrying out your work for the Council or use the Council's facilities in connection with additional employment.

You should also read, and act upon as necessary, the framework "Implications of the Localism Act and social enterprises" if you are considering establishing a business, social enterprise or micro provider organisation.

Details of the declaration process and further guidance is available from your line manager.

2.4 Consumption of alcohol

Consumption of alcohol during working hours is not permitted.

You must not drink alcohol during the working day at all; including unpaid breaks if you are involved in the following:

- work involving a high level of health and safety risk;
- responsibility for others where there is a high level of health and safety risk;
- close contact with customers
- face to face contact with external or partner agencies where you are representing the Council.

Employees not involved in the above type of work are expected to take a sensible approach to the consumption of alcohol during unpaid breaks. You must be mindful of the effect your behaviour will have on the reputation of the Council and the impact alcohol will have on your ability to perform your duties.

Disciplinary action will be taken against you if your ability is impaired by alcohol whilst on duty. See the disciplinary rules for more information.

2.5 Illegal substances

It is a criminal offence to produce, possess or supply an illegal substance. You must not use, or be under the influence of an illegal substance during the working day at all; including unpaid breaks. Where these offences come to light disciplinary action will be taken.

You must be mindful of the effect your behaviour will have on the reputation of the Council and the impact illegal substances, or the misuse of legal drugs, will have on your ability to perform your duties. Disciplinary action will be taken against you if your ability is impaired by illegal substances or the misuse of legal drugs while on duty.

You have a duty to inform your line manager if you are taking any medication which interferes with the safe performance of your role.

2.6 Conflict/disclosure of personal interests

Employees must not allow personal interests to conflict with the Council's business. This means you must not use your Council position, facilities or equipment to benefit yourself, family, friends or a private company/interest.

You must register any interest you/your spouse/partner has which may conflict with the Council's interest. This includes any employment by, substantial shareholding in or membership of any external company or body which has, or may enter into a contractual relationship with the Council or which is involved in campaigning or lobbying in respect of any Council activity.

The same principles apply to work carried out through partnership arrangements. So if you are involved in any type of partnership working with other agencies/companies and there appears to be a potential conflict of interest, you must also register this as described above.

Disclosure must be made as soon as it becomes evident there is or may be a conflict of interest. It may come to light in processes such as recruitment, tendering or during committee meetings. It must be declared immediately if you, a relative or friend has, or could be perceived as having, a personal interest in the process. Arrangements should be made to protect both the Council and the employee's position.

You must also declare membership of any organisation not open to the public, which requires allegiance and which has secrecy about rules, membership or conduct.

You should also read, and act upon as necessary, the framework "Implications of the Localism Act and Social Enterprises" if you are considering establishing a business, social enterprise or micro provider organisation.

Details of the declaration process and further guidance are available from your line manager.

2.7 Sponsorship

When an outside organisation wishes to sponsor a Council activity or an individual employee, the rules as described in section 2.2 about accepting gifts and hospitality apply.

When the Council wishes to sponsor an event/organisation/individual, you must follow the rules for declaring a conflict of interest in section 2.6 if you may benefit, or it could be perceived you may benefit, from the arrangement.

2.8 Criminal charges

Any employee facing criminal charges must notify their line manager immediately, who will consider the impact on their contract of employment. Motoring convictions should be declared in line with the Driving at Work Policy.

2.9 Disclosure of information

Legislation requires that certain information must be available to councillors, auditors, government departments, customers and the public. The Council publishes its performance results and discloses information in line with the Freedom of Information Act.

You must always treat personal data obtained through your duties as confidential and only disclose personal data in accordance with the Data Protection Act Policy.

Further information about data protection is available from your line manager.

2.10 Dress

The Council does not have a formal dress code. Employees who are required to wear a uniform or protective clothing to perform their duties will be provided with what is required and must wear this as instructed.

Cultural dress is encouraged providing it does not become a health and safety risk within the working environment.

You should be mindful that the way you present yourself may reflect upon the Council's reputation. You must dress in a manner that is appropriate for the situation in which you are working and which does not offend colleagues, customers or service users.

2.11 Inventions, patents and copyright

Any inventions made before the Patents Act 1977 belong to the Council if they were made during the course of your employment. However, after 1 June 1978, inventions will only belong to the Council if:

- they have been made in the course of your normal duties
- you would be expected to be inventive as part of your duties
- they were made in the course of your duties and you had a special obligation to further the Council's interest.

Any material that is related to work belongs to the Council under the Copyright, Designs and Employee Code of Conduct

Patents Act 1988. This means you cannot claim ownership of any material, written or produced by yourself or others during the course of your employment. You must not use any Council material for your own or a third party's gain.

2.12 Legacies/bequests in a will

Employees must never provide assistance to customers when drafting a will or act as a witness. Great care must be taken to ensure you are never placed in a position where it may appear that you are influencing or advising a customer about the content of their will.

Any gifts or monies left to you in a will must be declared using the acceptance of hospitality/gifts process described in section 2.2.

2.13 Off duty hours

Employees must not undermine public confidence in the Council in any way. This means your behaviour, both in and out of work, must not jeopardise your employment, undermine the trust placed in you as a Council employee or bring the Council into disrepute. Although your off duty hours are your personal concern, you must not allow official and private interests to conflict.

2.14 Personal use of Council equipment

The Council provides work equipment for employees to use to carry out their duties. If you wish to use such equipment for personal use, you must adhere to the policies that apply. For example, mobile phones, email and internet use..

2.15 Political neutrality

As a council employee, you service the Council as a whole. You must serve all councillors not just the controlling group and make sure you respect their individual rights. You must not allow your personal or political opinions to interfere with your work or your behaviour as a Council employee.

You will not normally be asked to advise any of the political groups represented on the Council about their, or the Council's work, or be required to attend political group meetings. However, in exceptional cases identified by the Chief Executive, senior officers may be asked to attend and advise political group meetings.

The Council is required by the Local Government and Housing Act 1989 to maintain a list of politically restricted posts. If you are employed in a restricted post, it prevents you from having any active political role either in or outside the workplace. It means you are disqualified from being elected or holding office as a member of this Council. You are also disqualified from standing or holding office with this Council if you hold any paid office or employment with a local or joint authority on which this Council is represented.

In practical terms, this means you cannot stand as a local councillor, an MP or a Euro MP. You are also restricted from:

- canvassing on behalf of a political party or a person who is or seeks to be a candidate.
- speaking to the public at large or publishing any written or artistic work that could give the impression that you are advocating support for a political party.

You will have been informed if your post is politically restricted and whether there is a right of appeal. Further information about politically restricted posts is available on the intranet or you can speak to your line manager.

2.16 Professional qualifications

Employees in roles that require specific professional registration to be able to practise their profession must maintain this requirement. You must also comply with the professional standards, codes of practice and any continuing professional development requirements.

2.17 Relationships at work

Councillors

Mutual respect between employees and councillors is essential. Close personal relationships between employees and individual councillors can damage this respect. Officers whose duties require them to have contact with Elected Members must familiarise themselves with and follow the Protocol on Member/Officer Relations a copy of which can be found in Part 5 of the Council's Constitution.

Employees

The Council has a statutory obligation to protect employees from harassment on the grounds of gender, race, disability, sexuality, religion or belief and age. You are expected to show courtesy and respect to fellow employees and maintain a professional attitude to others in the performance of your duties.

Customers

Employees in close contact with vulnerable customers must maintain professional relationships at all times. Appropriate boundaries should be made clear from the outset whilst being sensitive to the service user's personal history and how that might affect the relationship. Employees must not have any kind of physical or sexual relationship with customers.

Close personal relationships

During recruitment, candidates are required to declare any personal relationships they have with councillors or employees. Existing employees must not be involved in recruitment or other management processes involving a friend/relative, or someone they have a close personal relationship with. You must inform your line manager immediately if you identify an applicant that you have, or could be seen to have, a close personal relationship with.

Alternative management arrangements will be put in place, where possible, if a candidate is appointed who should be managed by, or will manage, a relative or someone with a close personal relationship.

Close relationships that develop during the course of employment between employees and or Councillors must be declared by both parties. Alternative working arrangements will be put in place to ensure compliance with this code. Further information and how to register a relationship is available on the intranet.

2.18 Social Media

There is growing popularity and use of social media websites like blogs, Facebook and Twitter. These are useful tools for communicating and engaging with the public, and are already used by some employees for this purpose. Employees must make sure that their use of, and participation in, social media websites does not bring the Council into disrepute, or breach their obligations under relevant legislation or Council policies.

You should ensure that you follow the Social Media Marking Scheme policy, which governs the use of social media websites by Council employees. You should also follow the Council's Network, Email and Internet User policy, which contains detailed provisions on the use of the Council's information systems and IT facilities for both Council related activities and personal use. These policies are intended to set the standards of behaviour expected from employees in relation to their use of social media websites.

2.19 Whistleblowing

If you become aware of activities which you believe are illegal, improper, unethical or otherwise inconsistent with this code, you can obtain a copy of the Council's Whistleblowing Policy, ask your line manager or contact Human Resources.

3 Support and guidance

Further guidance, supportive information and documentation on employee code of conduct are available on the intranet or can be obtained from your manager.
