

Emerging Statement of Community Involvement Planning and Environment Commission, 2 June 2005

Suggested Discussion Points

- Are there any methods of consultation not currently mentioned in the emerging SCI that should be?
- Are there any methods which would particularly assist in the early 'frontloading' stage of plan preparation
- Are there any additional groups or organisations whose potential role should be highlighted in the SCI?
- What types of people and organisations do the Commission consider fall into the category of 'hard to reach groups'?
- What consultation methods would be most effective in seeking the involvement of those hard to reach groups?
- What role should the SCI indicate for existing Council mechanisms such as the Area panels and Advisory Committees?
