

APPENDIX A

Summary of Equality Groups and Service Types

EIA - Review of funding for non-statutory services delivered by the Voluntary, Community and Faith Sector VCF

Table A below groups the services listed in Appendix 2 into the main service types based on the type of interventions these services provide. Within each service type, all funded services have developed individual service models to deliver the required outcomes drawing upon their particular skills, resources and links to other services. The range of services mean that some services have regular service users who attend weekly and at the other extreme, some have service contacts, where customers access the service on a one off basis.

Table B provides a summary of the number of service users/contacts from each Diversity Group analysed by the service types that they receive a service from. Individual service users/contacts may be from more than Diversity Group, eg Older Person from African-Caribbean community. In addition Table B records where service users are over 80 as this section of the Older People Diversity group are more likely to be affected by any change or reduction in services.

Key to Table A

Service Type	Description
On going support (17 Services)	Examples include, lunch clubs, day centres, self help, befriending services, social groups, and other projects to support people to remain independent in the community. These services provide an access point for other sources of information and advice. This group includes the SEWA project hosted by the Indian Community Centre that develops new activities as well as providing information, and on-going support to other groups working with the Indian Community.
Time Limited interventions (4 Services)	These services assist people to manage a specific risk to their independence. Services involve a mix of one off contacts, repeat one off contacts on different issues or case work for service users over a few weeks or months. eg:, Sight Support and CAMTAD generally provide one-off or repeat contacts, whereas Age UK's Advocacy Service and Headway generally provide case work for service users over a number of sessions.
Information and Advice (10 Services)	Services that provide information and advice to promote access to support for their service user's health and wellbeing. These are generally one off interventions, repeat interventions on different issues, and some complex advice provision that may take several sessions.
