

Briefing Paper.

Proposal for the Introduction of a Weekly Black Bin Collection Service.

It is recognised that some areas within the inner city are not suited to the full recycling collection scheme. For example, properties that are rented to students typically have a high turnover of tenants and have limited access to the rear of the property, making it difficult for residents to manage their waste and remove their bins from the street.

It is proposed to introduce a weekly residual waste collection service from Monday 28th of October 2013 and withdraw both the brown and blue bin collection services, within four areas of Derby, identified as not best suited to the Councils current refuse recycling services.

The 4 areas are in the following wards:

- Abbey ward
- Arboretum ward
- Mackworth ward
- Normanton ward

This service will be restricted to those properties that are shown on the attached maps and street listings further on in this document.

The introduction of a weekly back bin collection service in the four areas that have been identified will:

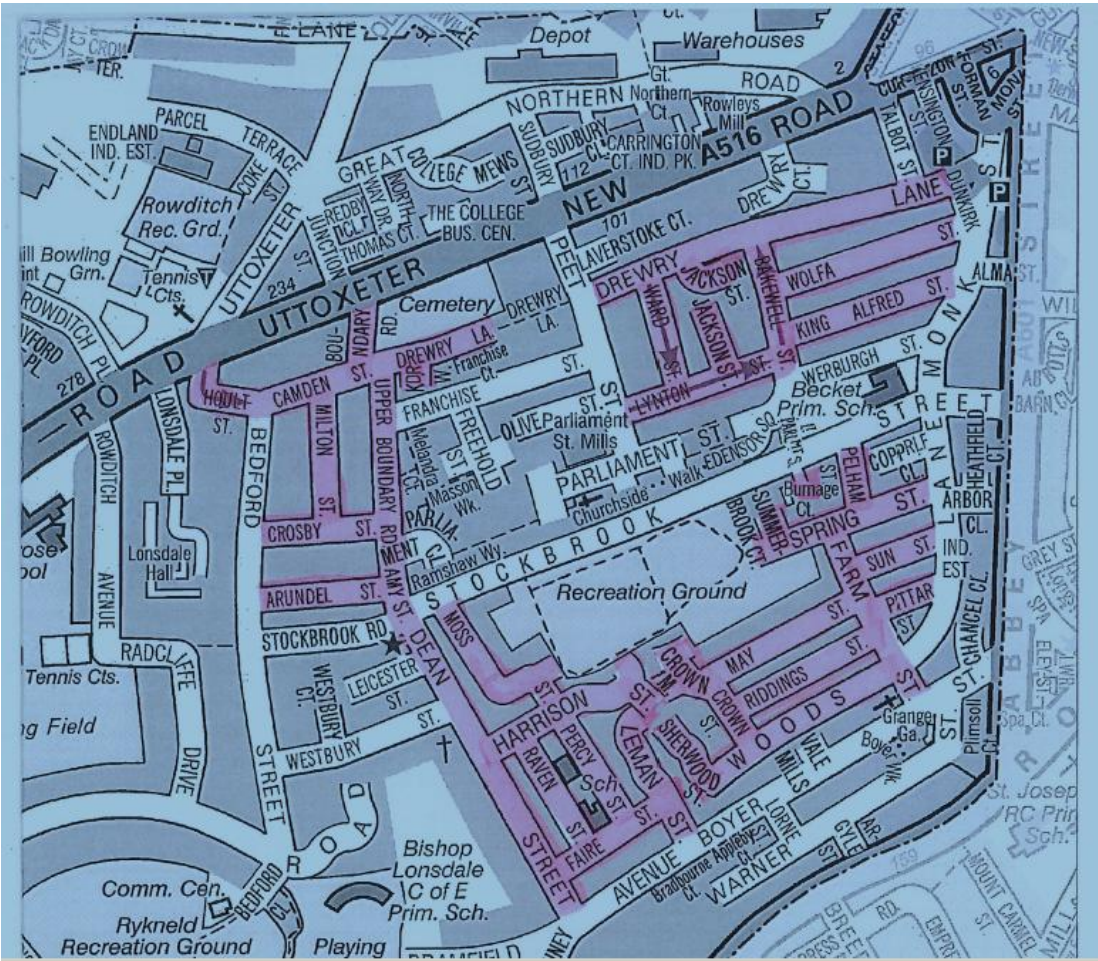

- enable residents in those areas to manage their waste more effectively
- reduce fly tipping
- reduce contaminated recycling bins.
- reduce side waste

The introduction of a weekly residual collection service may be attractive to residents in other areas of the City, however, this service must be restricted to the areas and streets identified in this report. The tonnages and number of properties have been evaluated using industry standard ratios which equate to one refuse collection team, working over four days. There will be no free capacity on this round to add more properties or areas onto this schedule.

With the introduction of the new fully comingled collection service .And the withdrawal of the blue and brown collection services in these four designated areas the collection costs will be reduced.

Using industry standard ratios the weekly black bin collection in these areas is the equivalent to one refuse round. The full operational costs of a refuse crew/round is £120K p.a. With the introduction of a weekly black bin scheme and the withdrawal of the blue bin collections this project will be cost neutral.
