SUPPORTING INFORMATION

- 4.1 The attached report provides an overview of the impact Early Help services in Derby have had over the past 12 months by addressing areas impact can either be judged or measured against. Derby has a range of Early Help services available across the city including Mutli-Agency Teams who are co-located with Social Work teams and complemented by Children's Centres.

The report should be read in the context of pressures being applied to Early Help services nationally and locally, which include: Children's Centre re-configuration in Derby and a reduction in front line Priority Family Practitioners from 12 to 8.

Progress this year includes: the training of 6 Children's Practitioners in Systemic Family techniques, which is part of Improving Access to Psychological Treatment (IAPT) work that is taking place and 5 practitioners in Early Help have either been trained or are in the process of being trained in Cognitive Behavioural approaches.

Early Help continues to be delivered against a background of national increases in the number of contacts and referrals to Children's services, funding reductions from central government, an increasing population and changing demographics.

The report informs on progress to date, action planning for 2017-18, including the revised model of Early Help to schools.

Please see attached report for full details.
